

CYNDI ROTTENBERG-WALKER

Cyndi Rottenberg-Walker, a partner of Urban Strategies, brings a strong multidisciplinary background to her work as a planner. Her understanding of the many factors that contribute to healthy urban environments has been applied to a range of complex projects, including large-scale master plans, official plans, re-zonings and planning studies. She is known for her facilitation skills and ability to co-ordinate and motivate large, diverse groups to create and implement comprehensive plans.

Cyndi is currently leading a large multi-disciplinary team in the preparation of Saint John, New Brunswick's new 25 year Municipal Plan, which is being comprehensively updated for the first time in 40 years. She is also undertaking a Feasibility and Master Plan Study with the University of Ontario Institute of Technology to develop an array of urban design and planning considerations concerning the planned expansion of its downtown campus. Cyndi recently led the team that prepared Cornell University's award-winning Comprehensive Master Plan, which establishes the framework that will guide the University's growth for the next 30 to 60 years, driven by the requirements of this pre-eminent institution's unique academic and research mission, while responding to the exceptional character and setting of the Ithaca campus. Cyndi's other recently completed projects include the Mimico Vision 2020 Action Plan which followed an intensive community engagement process that resulted in a shared vision for regeneration of this diverse waterfront community, a Facility Master Plan and Capacity Analysis for McMaster University, to help the institution best position itself for significant levels of anticipated growth and the Concept Plan and Implementation Strategy for Richmond Hill's new Regional Centre, a provincially designated Urban Growth Centre.

Cyndi has completed many complex waterfront studies, including the Land Use Plan for the Port of Hamilton, a master plan for the intriguing Fisherman's Pier site located on the Burlington Canal, the award-winning Land Use Plan and Implementation Strategy for Saint John's Inner Harbour, and the Harbourfront Centre Master Plan which identified strategic investments in the public realm that have redefined this pre-eminent site at the heart of Toronto's waterfront. For many years, Cyndi has been involved in shaping the vision and plan for the West Harbour community of Hamilton, culminating in its new Secondary Plan.

Cyndi has directed numerous university planning exercises, including preparation of comprehensive Campus Plans for Cornell University, Brock University, Cleveland's Cuyahoga Community College and McMaster University, with whom she maintains ongoing working relationships.
