

Junhao Fu

Urban Designer

Junhao is an Urban Designer with a background in urban planning and urban design. He has diverse experiences working on projects including master planning, transit-oriented development, waterfront redevelopment, campus planning, public realm and mobility. He has worked on a number of public planning and design studies as well as private development projects and development applications. Recently, Junhao worked on the Alexandra Park Revitalization Plan, with a focus on public realm enhancements and neighbourhood improvements in downtown Toronto. He also worked on the Union Station Rail Corridor Pedestrian and Cycling Connectivity Study, which aims to improve the experience of people crossing the rail corridor, and strengthen north-south pedestrian and cycling connectivity at the waterfront. Junhao is currently working on the Master Plan Concept and Urban Design Analysis in Liberty Village Lands, which sets forth a vision, design strategies and initiatives to ensure a sufficient quantity and quality of the public spaces as Liberty Village continues to grow.
